Dear Mr. Garrison,

Have you met with any account of this case of Col. Allston's? I have not, until to-day I find this editorial comment in the "Spy." Where is the end of these things? "The truth is", said one of the West India Slave-masters, years after British W. I. emanc.", "the truth is, Slavery made devils of us all". When will these Southern people be honest enough to see & confess the same! — You need not return the slip. — The 46th Cong. I suspect, will show us a worse example of Democracy & Ex-Rebeldom in alliance than we have yet seen. — And when I consider the treatment bestowed on the blacks for generations & centuries, and more recently on the Indians, I can but ask myself,

Is it morally fitting that this Nation should exercise Dominion over the Indians, & their treachery, is too much to think of.

The treachery equally
